

Loitering with Intent

How wonderful to be an artist and a woman in the twentieth century, Fleur Talbot rejoices. Loitering about London in 1949, with intent to gather material for her writing, Fleur finds a job on the grubby edge of the literary world, as secretary to the odd Autobiographical Association. Are they a group of mad egomaniacs, hilariously writing their memoirs in advance, or poor fools ensnared by a blackmailer? Rich material, in any case. But when its pompous director, Sir Quentin, steals the manuscript of Fleurs new novel, fiction begins to appropriate life. The associations members begin to act out scenes exactly as Fleur herself had already written them in her missing manuscript. And as they meet darkly funny, pre-visionsed fates, where does art start or reality end?
