

Michaelas Gift

Michaela Cochran and her family make the trip to her father's ancestral home every year, but this year is special. Michaela is now twelve, the age when every girl in the family receives a special gift. When Aunt Sharon explains that Michaela's gift is a magical ability to bring one of her drawings to life, Michaela begins making plans. What she wants most is a castle high on the mountain, where her family can live together. But if she can't figure out how to resolve the growing hostility between herself and her mother, her gift is meaningless.
